NATIONALITY of the DARROWS. Our Darrows were Connecticut Yankees which is the only definite knowledge I have of them in early times. The "Hist. of Ontario Co., N.Y." by Conover and Aldrich; pub. 1893 says that a Darrow family line (to whom I have not connected) was FRENCH. One book says that Richard Darrow 1 was traditionally WELSH. Another book says that Jedediah Darrow 15 was of MAYFLOWER descent. E.E. Darrow, brother of the celebrated lawyer Clarence Darrow, left records stating that Serg't George Darrow, the first of the family in this country (who also was prob. uncle of Richard 1) was prob. from Leigh, Lancashire, ENGLAND. Mary (Darrow) Richardson stated that her grandfather Jedediah Darrow 15 and his brother Zaccheus were born in SPAIN. Fanny G. Darrow who has done much research on Darrows writes, "The Alhambra in Spain is on or near the banks of the DARRO River. She, F.G.D. also writes: "300 yrs. ago there were Darrows in Leigh, Lancashire, Eng. I have traced Darrows in Southern Scotland who are persons of quality. There were Darrows in IRELAND, Huguenots who had fled FRANCE. A legend says they were in IRELAND but left there 1500 yrs. ago."

The earliest ancestor of the family to come to England, was William De La Grande, a knight in the army of William the Conqueror. William, instead of returning to his home in Normandy, at the close of the Norman Conquest, remained in England, acquiring land in the vicinity of Kenilworth, Warwickshire, where he made his home.

The son of William, whose name was Henry, (or possibly, Roger) De La Grande, served for twenty years, 1120--1140. As Grand Porteur, to Henry 1st, King of England.

It was during this period that the name of the family became changed to Porter-- Porteur De La Grande, was much more often referred to, by the title, "Porteur", or its English equivalent, "Porter", than by his name; and finally by royal authority, the name was changed.

The sixteenth generation from William De La Grande, John Porter, and his wife, Rose, with their children, were the first of the family to emigrate to America; and from them descended the family of Henry Porter Andrews, from whose writings, this data is collected.

John and his wife were members of the church of England, at Windsor, and it is probable, that it was their connection with that church, that brought them to the New World.

The members of the Church at Windsor, came to the New World, in two companies-- the first, about the year 1630, settling at, or near, Boston; the second immigrating about 1639, settling in Connecticut.

John came with the second company and settled at Windsor, Conn near Hartford, the place evidently being named from the town in England, from which its inhabitants immigrated.

As already stated it is possible that the family of the present writer descended from this pioneer, John Porter, but at what time in the record of the family as compiled by Mr. Andrews, a member in the record of the family as may have been lost trace of and from which the Stan family may have descended, it will be impossible to determine, until more information has been collected relative to the Porter family, we find a Timothy Porter, the fifth generation from John and Rose, who was born Aug. 30/1747.
